

Conclusion

1. Stakeholder most influential in efforts to reduce the number of KJA in Cirata Reservoir, especially Ciranjang Sub-district is BPWC, Koramil Ciranjang and DKPP. BPWC is influential in the socialization stage, Koramil Ciranjang is influential in the implementation stage and DKPP influential in the post implementation stage.
2. KJA reduction can be realized if optimizing the role of influential stakeholders.

References

- [1] Anna, Z. 2016. Sustainable Capture Fisheries Management Cirata Reservoir: Approach to the Bio-Economy Logistics Model. Journal of Social Economics of Marine and Fisheries, Vol. 11 (2): 161-170.
- [2] BPWC. 2018. KJA Control and Control Policy in Cirata Reservoir. Not applied.
- [3] Garno, Y.S. 2002. Burden of Polluted Cultivation of Aquaculture Waste and Eutrophication in Waters of Reservoir in Citarum Watershed. J. Tek.Ling. P3TL-BPPT, 3: 112-120.
- [4] Hidayat, A., Annisa, Z., Gandhi, P. 2016. Policy for Ecological, Social, Economic and Cultivation of Floating Cages Keramba in Cirata Reservoir. Agricultural Policy and Environmental Policy, Vol 3 (3): 175-187.
- [5] Lukman. 2011. Paper on the book "Perspectives on Disaster and Environment in Indonesia: Case Studies and Reduction of the Impact of the Risk" Editor: H. Z. Anwar & H. Harjono. Sub Activities Competitive Disaster and Environment-LIPI .. Pg. 173 – 193.
- [6] Nurhayati, et al. 2018. Resource Management Analysis of Agricultural Sustainability (The Case Study Floating Net Cages Reservoir at Cirata)/ Proceeding International Seminar Sustainability Science. Unpad : West Java.
- [7] Nurhayati, et al. 2018. A Blue Economy Lesson From Cirata, Indonesia. Applied Ecology and Environmental Science, Vol 6 (2) : 57-62.
- [8] Rahmani, et al. 2011. Internalization of Environmental Costs On Cultivation of Karamba Fish Floating Net in Cirata Reservoir. Indonesian Journal of Agricultural Economics (IJAE), Vol 2 (2): 157-168.
- [9] Rizal, A. 2012. Human and Capital Contribution to Regional Economic Growth Sumedang District. International Seminar on Entrepreneurship and Business. Page 1-11.
- [10] Rizal, et al. 2017. Regional Perspective To Establish Competitiveness of Indonesian Fishery Sector In Autonomous and Global Regimes. international Journal of Agricultural and Environmental Research Vol 3 (6): 4367-4388. Suryana, A, A, S. 2013. Dynamics of Total Factor Productivity of Freshwater Aquaculture And Its Impact On West Java Economy (Dissertation). Bogor: Bogor Agricultural University.
- [11] Wibowo, Y. 2010. Prospective Analysis of Competitiveness Development Strategy of Regional Plantation Company. Agrointek, Vol. 4 (2): 104-112.
- [12] Widiyati, A., Djokosetiyanto, D., Bengen, D., Kholil, M., Arifin, Z. 2009. Analysis of Important Factors in the Management of Aquaculture in Sustainable Floating Net Cages Using Interpretative Structural Modeling (ISM) Methods in Cirata Reservoir, West Java. Journal of Ris. Aquaculture, Vol 4 (2): 277-290.
- [13] Widiyati, A., Bengen, G, D. 2012. Sustainability Aspect of Fishery Cultivation Studies on Floating Cages in Cirata Reservoir (West Java). Journal of Ris. Aquaculture, Vol 1 (1): 121-1